Glendale Residents Have Access to Two Dozen More Libraries. The Glendale City Council recently approved two agreements with the Maricopa County Library District (MCLD) that provides additional resources to Glendale residents, as well as saves the city money by reducing operating expenses that can now be shared. In fact, throughout the county, Glendale residents will be able to access an additional two dozen libraries.

The first agreement is a reciprocal borrowing agreement with MCLD, in which any Maricopa County resident, regardless of which municipality they reside in, can get a library card from any municipal or county library in Maricopa County. For instance, a resident of Glendale will be able to get a card in Peoria, and vice versa. Not only will this provide flexibility and increased services for residents, but it will also provide additional revenue to Glendale. At the end of each year, the MCLD calculates the number of non-city residents using a municipal library for each city, as well as those patrons who use other city libraries and/or county libraries. This amount will vary annually, but based on current numbers, a potential of approximately $163,000 in additional revenue could be brought in through cash, book purchases and electronic database services.

In addition, a second agreement with the MCLD involves a new software system, or Integrated Library System (ILS), that will be implemented through the county's resources, covering all costs associated with migrating, training and annual maintenance, including upgrades. Since the city's current ILS could be phased out and no longer technically supported, this was beneficial to the city. While this agreement will improve the library's technology, it also will save the city nearly $350,000 in one-time funds and $35,000 annually in operating and maintenance costs.

The reciprocal borrowing went into effect July 1st and the new technology will be implemented over a period of time.

Other Library News. Glendale's libraries now have 30 Nooks preloaded with eBooks for children, teens and adults. Also preloaded are two books in Spanish. With this program, users have a way to try out an eReader and eBooks before actually purchasing one of their own. Each of Glendale's three libraries will have 10 Nooks available. The Nook is Barnes and Nobles' brand of mobile electronic reading device and is touted as very light and having a good reading screen and long battery life.

Patrons interested in borrowing one of the eReaders must be a Glendale Public Library card holder in good standing, 18 and over and will need to provide current photo identification at checkout. The Nooks may be borrowed for four weeks with no renewal option.

The Nooks were provided through donations and grant money. Councilmember Joyce Clark donated six Nooks to the Velma Teague Branch Library. Councilmember Yvonne Knaack donated funds to purchase more, and the remainder were purchased through a grant.

Christmas in July! Santa is making an early stop in Historic Downtown Glendale on Saturday, July 21 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Visitors will enjoy a fun-filled day of holiday crafts, sweet treats and exclusive deals in Historic Downtown Glendale, while having the opportunity to give back during a special back to school charity drive.

With only 157 days left to get all of your shopping for gifts and decorations complete, start early and avoid the rush! Christmas cheer begins at the Glendale Visitor Center, where you'll pick up your holiday map, coupons and gift bag (for the first 300 visitors) and take a spin on the prize wheel.

Santa himself will take a break from making toys to make a stop in downtown Glendale, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at A Mad Hatter's, located at 5734 W. Glendale Ave. Photos will be available for a nominal fee or shoppers are welcome to take their own pictures with Santa.

In the spirit of holiday giving, the Glendale Visitor Center will be accepting school supplies for the Annual Back to School Supply Drive, which will benefit local elementary schools. These items include new backpacks, pencils, colored pencils, markers, erasers, paper, folders, binders, crayons and glue.

Admission and parking are free. For more information, contact the Glendale Convention & Visitors Bureau at 623-930-4500 or visit www.visitglendale.com. The Glendale Convention and Visitors Bureau is located at 5800 W. Glenn Drive, Suite 140.

Get Wild About Glendale Parks and Recreation. The city of Glendale is joining the National Recreation and Park Association's (NRPA) "Get Wild" theme for National Parks and Recreation Month. Glendale wants everyone to show how wild they are about parks and recreation and take part in the "Get Wild" activities. As an added bonus to enjoying these great amenities and resources, Parks and Recreation is giving away a monthly pass for the Foothills Recreation & Aquatics Center. Simply log on to <http://www.facebook.com/GlendaleRecreation> and click on the contest tab to enter.

The 2012 theme of the "Get Wild" campaign encourages individuals, families, friends and park lovers everywhere to venture to Glendale's parks and recreation facilities to experience the many benefits they offer, such as programs to inspire healthy, active lifestyles and activities to appreciate nature and the environment.
